CULTURE TODAY IN PHOTOGRAPHS

If Andy Warhol represented '60s pop culture with a soup can, how would you represent popular culture today?

Submit your photograph.

The Westport Arts Center celebrates the artistic talent and diversity of our member artists in an exhibition and silent auction of photography at WAC's First Annual Art Affair, The Warhol Ball, on April 28, 2012.

With inspiration from the POP Movement and its artists, like Warhol, the photography should in some way depict our popular culture today. Artists may submit up to TWO photographs for consideration. Both color and black and white are welcome.

Selected photographs will be framed and exhibited at The Warhol Ball. The work will be for sale in a silent auction and the proceeds will benefit the Westport Arts Center. All selected artists will receive recognition at the ball and on our website. Selected photographs will also be displayed on a video loop throughout the evening and on the WAC website leading up to the event.

About The Warhol Ball

This event is WAC's annual fundraiser. On April 28, The Warhol Ball: A Night at the Factory, will re-create the avante-garde spirit of Andy Warhol's studio, The Factory, during an extraordinary evening filled with unique arts experiences, selected photographs, music, and food.

About the Juror

Work will be juried and curated by Helen Klisser During, Director Visual Arts at the Westport Arts Center.

Also a private art advisor, photographer, and curator, Klisser During has curated over 200 exhibitions.
